P. W. Discusses Streets, Signs, Band Concerts

Wants to Deed Streets to City—Band Concerts Next Summer—Signs at Entrance to City—North Street to Be Repaired.

Frederick W. Powell, representing the P. W. Powell Realty Company, was the principal topic of discussion Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the board of public works and the board of health, after hearing the report of city Engineer John F. Hallinan, to city North Street. It was also decided to erect flag poles in Cornell Block Parks and to engage a bandholder's Band for a series of summer band concerts at City Hall during the coming summer. The State Highway Department was directed to go ahead and erect standard cast iron signs at the seven entrances to the city.

Want To Deed Streets.

Frederick W. Powell, representing the P. W. Powell Realty Company, is developing a tract of land on Albany avenue known as Roosevelt Park, appeared before the board and desired to deed several streets to the development to the city. The streets were Jefferson avenue, Jefferson Place, Savoy street, Harding street and Harding street. He said the city already had accepted a deed to Roosevelt avenue, and it was desired that deeds to the other streets be accepted as the city water mains through streets not owned by the city.

Schuyler C. Schultz, one of the owners of the Realty Company, was also present and said the streets had been graded, several houses had been erected and that they could not obtain city water until the city accepted the deeds.

The board informed both Mr. Powell and Mr. Schultz that the matter would take its usual course. Deeds being referred to the street committee and corporation counsel to investigate and report.

Arthur J. Burns, who is developing the Roosevelt Park development, appeared before the board and desired a deed for that part of the street owned by him. The other part of the street was owned by the Roosevelt Company and Mr. Powell desired a deed for it to the city. Both deeds were also referred to the street committee and corporation counsel.

Mountain View Avenue.

Luther S. Decker and Lester C. Decker of Mountain View avenue appeared before the board with a petition from the residents of that street asking that it be placed in a suitable condition. Referred to the street committee.

Lounsbury Place.

J. Edward Conroy appeared before the board in regard to placing Lounsbury Place in a passable condition. Referred to the street committee.

Traffic Signs.

Andrew Keefe, representing a traffic signal company, appeared before the board with a proposition to install street traffic signals. The proposition was referred to the street committee.

Talked Asphalt Blocks.

Mr. Peck, representing a concern that manufactures asphalt blocks, appeared before the board in an effort to interest it in using asphalt block pavement. He said it was more expensive than sheet asphalt but a better pavement. No action was taken.

City Entrance Signs.

A communication was read from the state highway department calling attention to the fact that the department was anxious to erect standard cast iron signs at the entrance to towns and villages. These signs cost $3 each and the state would install them but believed that the towns and villages should pay for them. There were seven entrances to the city, and the department desired to know if the city was willing to have the signs erected and pay for them.

After some discussion the board decided to notify the department to have the signs erected and that the city would pay for them. These signs will bear the name "Kingston."

Want to Use Sidewalk.

The W. E. Joyce Company, Inc., which has the contract to erect a new banking house at Broadway and Mill street for the Roundout National Bank, asked permission to use one-half the roadway and the sidewalk on Mill street and also the sidewalk on Broadway for piling material.

Hurled 50 Feet Into Creek by Electric Shock

Edward Davis of This City in Hospital as Result of Peculiar Accident at Catskill Tuesday When 13,000 Volts Passed Through His Body—May Lose Thumb.

Edward Davis of Miller's Lane had a narrow escape from death Tuesday afternoon at Catskill when 13,000 volts of electricity passed through his body, hurling him, unconscious, a distance of fifty feet into the Catskill creek. He was pulled ashore and after receiving first aid he was rushed to the Kingston City Hospital where he is being attended by Dr. Frank A. Johnston. This morning Davis was semi-conscious, and his condition was reported as improved.

From what could be learned Davis is employed by the Miller Trucking Company of 225 Elmendorf street, which has a contract at Catskill. Tuesday afternoon Davis was busy with a gang of men excavating holes where it was necessary to use dynamite to blast out the rock. The excavation was under the high tension electric wires.

The blasts were set off by the use of a detonator electrically operated. From a small box containing dry cell batteries runs a long wire connecting with a detonating fuse or percussion cap, and by use of the detonator it is possible to explode the dynamite while standing at a safe distance. The blast is set off by pressing a button causing an electric spark which explodes the detonating cap which simultaneously explodes the dynamite.

Davis, who was boss on the job, got ready to explode a blast. As he pressed the button, the blast went off and the wire leading from the detonator high into the air, coming into contact with the high tension wires.

As the two wires met, a circuit was formed which sent 13,000 volts of electricity through Davis's hand and arm into his body. He was hurled fifty feet into the Catskill creek. Fellow workmen rushed to the creek edge and pulled Davis unconscious, from the water.

Dr. Honerford of Catskill attended Davis and he was then rushed to the Kingston City Hospital, still in an unconscious condition. This morning he was semi-conscious, and it was stated that his condition was somewhat improved. It is thought that he will lose a thumb.

Gather Forces to Attack Hankow

Northerners Preparing to Attack Radical Cantonese Stronghold—Auxiliary Forces Suffer Heaviest Casualties.

Shanghai, April 27 (AP).—All available forces are being gathered by the Northerners. It is learned here, for the purpose of attacking the radical Cantonese stronghold, Hankow. Skeleton forces are being left temporarily to defend the northern position elsewhere. Hankow, where a serious situation has prevailed for some days, is reported to be more disturbed than ever, and Japanese families unable to leave are flocking into the French concession to seek refuge. The battle between the Cantonese entrenched at Nanking and the Northerners on the other side of the Yangtze at Pukow, was still in progress today. There was firing between Cantonese gunboats anchored off Nanking and the northern fleet batteries at Pukow. One hundred wounded Cantonese have arrived here from Nanking.

The United States auxiliary gunboat, which was fired on heavily Monday near Kiangyin, on the Yangtze has arrived at Chinkiang. The United States naval authorities here do not know the exact number of men wounded in the firing, although it is known the vessel suffered at least several casualties of air attack on American warships since they arrived in Chinese waters. One of the men was shot through the lung.

Twenty Colonial Tickets Unsold

There still remain twenty tickets to be sold in order to place a Colonial baseball team on the diamond this season. It is until The Freeman went to press to day there were eighty tickets disposed of. Thursday will terminate the campaign to secure the remaining $100 needed to equip the team. If the quota is reached on Thursday, Manager Lou Brown will immediately negotiate with some first-class clubs to transfer in the city. Although a healthy team is about completed, some of the players have yet signed to play with the Colonials. They will be given contracts as soon as the financial status becomes established.

The Holy Trinity Society of the St. James M. E. Church, will meet with Mrs. C. E. Wenderly, 45 Emerson street, on Friday evening, April 28, at 7:30. Mrs. M. C. Long, who will lead in the devotion and Mrs. Cora H. Arberry will give Chapter 3 in the Foreign Test Book.

"Y. W." Campaign Receipts, $1,448

First Day's Report of Workers Received With Enthusiasm—Speakers Told Why Drive for $8,500 Should Succeed.

The Y. W. C. A. Budget Campaign has started off in splendid shape, with a total reported of $1,448 on Tuesday evening. When it is taken into consideration that the Y. W. Girls who are working are practically all employed girls, and that they got their start after 7:30 o'clock Monday night, the excellence of this first report is readily seen. The $8,500 asked will be raised, as all would quickly realize if they had seen the large gathering Tuesday evening, in spite of the rain, and the spirit of the workers. With a hundred women willing a certain result and working for it, that result is a foregone conclusion.

Success Through Cooperation.

The first speaker was Principal Van Ingen, who always gets a most cordial welcome from the girls and who always has something worth while to give them. His theme was "The Miracle of Service," a slogan apropos of the present success of the Y. W. C. A. In a city like Kingston where so many girls are employed, many of them young girls without homes or home influence, it would be difficult to estimate the need and benefit of such an organization.

I am glad to give it my endorsement and support.

GEO. K. COLDEN, Superintendent of the Kingston Factory of G. W. Van Slyke & Horton.

Accomplishes Much With Little.

Charles A. Lasher, former president of The Kiwanis Club, expressed his surprise that the Y. W. could accomplish all it does accomplish on so small a sum of money as $8,500 a year, and congratulated the organization for so doing. In spite of all of the other campaigns going on, Mr. Lasher encouraged the workers to keep right on ringing doorbells, receiving both small and large amounts, thankfully as going to make up the desired sum.

Girls Must Have Training.

Frank B. Matthews, one of the board of trustees, taking note of how women today are stepping forth as a power in city, state and nation—said that with such a future before them our girls must have training—physical training and mental training (he thought their moral training was pretty good), and he knew of no better place in which to receive such training than the Y. W. C. A., which therefore had a right to ask for a living budget.

Elva Bogart on looking at such a notable body of earnest women combined to raise funds for the up-building of the character of the girls of our city felt sure that the very least the citizens of Kingston could do would be to contribute to such a cause as generously as their means would permit.

All three speakers were unanimous in their expressions of appreciation of the efficiency of the Y. W. C. A. and the need of its continuance.

Teams Report Results.

When it came time for the receiving of reports, the enthusiasm went up several degrees, with good cause as the following statement shows:

Team I—Miss Harriet Misner	$100.00
Team II—Miss Jessie Goodsell, Miss Katherine Millard	113.50
Team III—Mrs. E. F. Mac Fadden	152.00
Team IV—Mrs. Frank Thompson, Miss Minnie Millard	237.00
Team V—Mrs. Donald Amos	115.00
Team VI—Mrs. R. F. Childsey	156.50
Team VII—Mrs. Mae Perkins	154.65
Team VIII—Mrs. Alva Staples	103.00
Team IX—Miss Edith Holman	146.00
Team X—Miss Margaret Cordes	125.00
Total for day.....	$1,448.65

(Contributors in Rhyme.)

There was great cheering over the fine total and over the awarding of the basket of roses to Mrs. Frank Thompson III for the largest number of subscriptions received—eleven—and the Hickman silver cup to Team IV for securing the largest sum—$237. In addition, Mrs. Thompson, one of the chairmen of this team, stated that one of her contributors had even been moved to poetry over the campaign and has contributed and read the following:

Mrs. Frank Thompson, Chairman,
256 W. Chestnut street,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. Thompson:
Mrs. K. told me yesterday and reminded me again and told me this morning as I sat her on the train (that check for Mrs. Thompson, please send it out today. She is chairman of our team for the Y. W. C. A.).

While this is no poetry I am sorry mine is small, but you should be quite satisfied to think I send you all for my soul's sake. I'm wearing last year's hat, but the weather's crowning motif and I'm sure glad of that.

Yours truly,
Mrs. K.

P. S.—I just thought of something more.

THE WHY OF THE Y. W. AS EMPLOYERS SEE IT

Kingston, April 25, 1927.
Young Women's Christian Association, 14 Henry Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Our hearty approval has always been with the Y. W. C. A., and the work being done by them for the betterment of the girls of our city.

Yours truly,
H. E. FIELDS,
Manager U. S. Lace Curtain Mills.

The influence of the Y. W. C. A. has placed it among Kingston's strongest assets. It should receive the support of all the citizens in its campaign for funds to broaden the splendid work it is doing.

C. S. ROWLAND,
Manager of James S. Fuller, Inc.

I cannot think of any organization that has a stronger claim on our support than the Y. W. C. A. In a city like Kingston where so many girls are employed, many of them young girls without homes or home influence, it would be difficult to estimate the need and benefit of such an organization.

I am glad to give it my endorsement and support.

Superintendent of the Kingston Factory of G. W. Van Slyke & Horton.

Gray Confession Read in Court

States He Agreed To Kill Snyder Because Mrs. Snyder Hounded Him and Got Him in a Whirl With Her Love Making.

Queens County Court House, New York, April 27 (AP).—Henry Judd Gray agreed to kill Albert Snyder because Mrs. Snyder "hounded me and got me in a whirl with her love making," he asserted in his confession read in court today.

The confession related how Gray met Mrs. Snyder and stated that she told him of half a dozen attempts she had made on her husband's life. He told her he thought she was "terrible," the confession continued, but she "played me pretty hard," and finally he agreed to help her.

He got the wire, chloroform and sash weight on her orders, he said, but never really thought he would go through with the scheme until he found himself actually striking the sleeping husband.

Gray said in the confession that he was in a daze throughout and his description of himself was that of a man in a hypnotic trance, unable to withstand the commands of the hypnotist.

He asserted that she directed him in his every action and when the husband seized him after the first blow she took the sash weight and beat the already stunned man unconscious.

The confession then told of burning a bloodstained shirt and gown, of turning the house toposy-turvy to simulate a burglary, and of his return to Syracuse after binding Mrs. Snyder.

Gray said that he had decided not to go through with their plans and was leaving the Snyder home when the Snyders returned from a party and he had run back to the unoccupied bedroom where he was hiding.

Once Mrs. Snyder came to him and said her husband was asleep and "the time has come," he said he was powerless to disobey her.

The confession then related how he had established an alibi by setting Haddon Gray, a Syracuse friend, to occupy his hotel room while he was away. He overpowered Haddon Gray, who is not related to him, of any knowledge of the real purpose of which the alibi was intended.

Gray said in his confession that Mrs. Snyder not only took the sash weight and beat her husband but administered the chloroform.

Dempsey May Fight Uzcudun

New York, April 27 (AP).—After receiving positive assurances today that Jack Dempsey intends to stake a comeback, Tex Rickard announced he will match the former champion for a bout with Pauline Uzcudun on or about July 1, probably at the Yankee Stadium.

Barred Entrance on Ball.

Anthony Lerner of New York, who was held to await the action of the grand jury about three weeks ago by Police Justice Clyde Gardner at Seacroft and committed to jail, was released this morning by County Judge Fowler. Lerner furnished bail in $1,000. He is charged with driving an automobile at Glens, taking it to New York and then to Jamaica where it was recovered and he was arrested. Two others who were his companions were also arrested as important witnesses but were later released because they knew nothing of the theft.

and it gave me quite a shock. I really have a little coal, but enough to fill a sack.

The workers will gather again this morning at 4 o'clock for tonight's meeting.

It was held on June 1, 1927.

Former Senator Beveridge Dies

Became Famous in Politics and Led Many Fights—Popular As An Orator—Student of American History and Author of Several Books.

Indianapolis, April 27 (AP).—Albert Jeremiah Beveridge, former United States senator from Indiana, died suddenly here today.

Mr. Beveridge, twice elected to the senate from Indiana, retired from that body in 1911 and twice sought to return. He was defeated in 1914 as the Progressive party candidate and in 1922 was defeated by Samuel M. Ralston, Democrat.

He had been working here upon his "Life of Abraham Lincoln."

Mr. Beveridge's death was caused by heart disease. The heart ailment had caused some concern to immediate members of his family during the last two weeks.

The former senator had not been confined to his bed, but on orders of his physicians had been living quietly while undergoing treatments. He was 64 years old.

One of the pioneer exponents of the direct election of all public officials, Beveridge consistently was unsuccessful as a candidate under the system. Twice he attained membership in the United States senate from Indiana through election by the state legislature, and twice he was rejected as an aspirant for the same place by popular referendum.

Bolted With Roosevelt.

When Theodore Roosevelt bolted the Republican party in 1912, Beveridge went with him. At the Bull Moose convention in Chicago, the Hoosier, as temporary chairman, uttered the principles upon which the Progressives relied for success.

Through the irony of circumstances the measures which the Progressives espoused and helped to enact were deterrents to the ambitions of Beveridge.

His Literary Career.

Beveridge's prominence was as firmly fixed in his literary career and in his ability as an orator, as in his statesmanship. His "Life of John Marshall" is regarded as the most illuminating exposition of the great chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

After a year in Europe as a war correspondent for a national weekly magazine, Beveridge returned in 1915 to publish, on the eve of America's entrance, a volume "What Is Back of the War," which brought bitterest castigation from those who saw in it a justification of the German action. It was barred from many libraries and training camps.

His Humble Beginning.

That he should have attained proficiency in many endeavors is more significant in the light of Beveridge's humble beginning. He was born October 6, 1852, on an Ohio farm which gave back little more than a scant existence. After the Civil War the family moved to Illinois.

Before he had quit his teens Beveridge had worked as a farm chore boy, a section hand on a railroad, a teamster and logger. He found time, however, to complete grade school and enter De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., working summer vacations as a book agent. Beveridge completed the college work in 1875 and entered the legal profession.

Katherine Langsdale, his first wife, died in 1900 and in 1907 he married Catherine Eddy of Chicago. The former senator had two children, Albert, Jr., and Abigail.

Contest Determined Future.

Winning an interstate oratorical contest determined his future in law. A scholastic rivalry which developed between Beveridge and James L. Watson, senator from Indiana, during their days at De Pauw afterwards became a political rivalry. Both were aspirants for college oratorical honors.

It was Beveridge's declamatory powers that first officially allied him with the Republican party. The year he won the interstate oratorical medal, both Democratic and Republican state organizations were searching for spellbinders. Both sought the services of Beveridge and the Republicans were successful.

In 1877, two years after receiving his academic degree, Beveridge passed the bar examination and became a junior member of an Indianapolis firm. That same year he married Miss Langsdale.

New Election a Surprise.

The young lawyer became an enthusiastic Republican party worker, winning a position in the organization eventually as he assumed local prominence as a constitutional lawyer. In 1892, he was elected as a "dark horse" in the race for the United States senate and to the surprise of the state won. He was elected again in 1905.

Beveridge took with him to Washington a reputation as an orator and he soon justified that renown before his colleagues in the senate. Although thirty-seven years old at the time, he was known in that assembly of venerable statesmen.

Attacked For Inconsistency.

Although Beveridge in many of his speeches attacked the "trust-busting" movement in national affairs, and repeatedly denounced "the lawlessness" of his political opponents charged he was expected to vote against legislation designed by the "trust-busting" movement and did occasionally vote with the "trust-busting" group. He was known for his "flip-flop" attitude.

Tragedies Fail to Deter Paris-to-New York Fliers

Backers of Bellanca Plane Practically Ready to Hop Off—Deaths Have Made Remaining Contenders More Determined Than Ever.

New York, April 27 (AP).—Death of four members of two Paris-New York aerial expeditions since last fall made seven other expeditions more determined than ever today to accomplish the feat.

The deaths of yesterday of Commander Noel Davis and his alternate pilot, Lieutenant Stanton Hall Wooster, at Messick, Va., are the latest tolls exacted by accident and tragedy that have stalked the proposed flight since the accident at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, last September, when Charles W. Clavier and Jacob Ishamoff were killed in the crash of the Sikorsky plane in which Captain Rene Fonck and his crew were setting forth for Paris.

Despite tragedies the backers of the Bellanca plane which recently established a new world's endurance record, have announced they are practically ready to hop off.

This plane, in which Clarence D. Chamberlain and Bert Acosta remained in the air almost 52 hours, is the most serious contender in the race.

"We are all the more determined to be the first to fly across the Atlantic and everything will be rushed to repair the Columbia, our contender," said Charles Levine, president of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation, owners of the plane. "It will be ready to fly again this afternoon."

Other remaining contenders are Commander Richard Evelyn Byrd, first to fly over the North Pole, whose plane was badly damaged in a test flight recently and who probably will not get away before midsummer; Captain Fonck, who was to arrive in this country today to plan for a second attempt; Lieutenant Winston H. Ehrigott, of the New York National Guard, whose plans are veiled in mystery; Captain Charles Lindbergh, air mail pilot of St. Louis, whose plans also are generally unknown; Captain Charles Guesner, French war ace, who is expected to take off shortly from Paris; and M. Drouhin, former holder of the duration record, who also plans to hop off from Paris.

President Calls Sees Peace Ahead

Declares There Is a Misunderstanding Between Mexico and United States in Commenting on President Coolidge's Speech.

Mexico City, April 27 (AP).—President Calles believes that the road has now been opened for a satisfactory settlement of all difficulties between Mexico and the United States. He emphasized this in commenting last night on President Coolidge's New York speech. He said at the bottom of all the difficulties, "there is nothing more than a misunderstanding or divergence of judgment in appreciating a matter of legal order, which really had not affected the legitimate interests, nor, fortunately, injured the sentiment of the nation, nor brought any injury to our decorum."

President Calles has no desire that the Mexican-American controversy shall be settled by arbitration, saying it appears to us perfectly satisfactory that such settlement should be obtained by means of negotiations, which would have the advantage of not injuring the sovereignty of the country. It would be submitting to arbitration difficulties emanating from our constitution and our laws.

10,000 Plumbers Ordered to Strike

New York, April 27 (AP).—A lock-out order affecting 10,000 plumbers and their helpers in all five boroughs will go into effect at the close of working time today. G. Norman, head of the building trades employers, announced today. If the lock-out continues for a month, he said, it will throw 70,000 workers in the building trades out of work and the city's $1,000,000 building program for the 1927-28 season, 2,000 plumbers and helpers in Brooklyn have already been on strike since April 1. Of the remaining 7,000 in the other four boroughs, half are helpers. It was stated at the headquarters of the American Association of Plumbers and Helpers that the helpers have officially gone on strike with the plumbers and are asking for separate demands.

The Book Shop Endangered.

Western C. Smith of The Book Shop at 41 St. James street has completed the book and is endeavoring to place it in the market. This is the third attempt of the establishment of the book shop by Mr. Smith and there are now over 2,000 volumes of fiction, reference and technical books in the shelves, including the latest fiction. Since opening and enlarging the shop Mr. Smith has added a number of new books to his list.

Order Long Break In Levee South Of New Orleans

Residents of Two Parishes to Be Flooded—Maintain Armed Watch Demanding Guarantees Against Loss—Great Army of Homeless Hourly Increasing.

(By The Associated Press).

To protect New Orleans from the mighty flood rolling down the Mississippi, a long break in the levee south of that city has been ordered for Friday noon.

The Louisiana National Guard has been mobilized for any emergency and soldiers now stand guard over long stretches of the levee.

Many trappers and other residents of the two parishes to be flooded maintain their armed watch where the break is to be made, demanding guarantees against loss before quitting their posts.

A general exodus of the residents of the two parishes has begun with the roads to New Orleans crowded with automobiles and wagons piled high with household goods and other possessions.

With the crest of the flood approaching inundated Arkansas City, Ark., additional towns in that state and Mississippi are in danger. Complete flooding of southeastern Arkansas is threatened by the weakening of the Saint Bernard levee on the Arkansas river south of Pine Bluff.

The great army of homeless, now estimated at more than 150,000, is hourly increasing as the flood waters move across Arkansas and northern Louisiana.

To rescue the marooned the Red Cross has requisitioned one hundred small crafts from the coast guard.

Additional supplies for use over the ten thousand square miles of inundated territory in seeking out the isolated refugees have been called for by the organized relief forces.

Health officers from the seven states hit by the flood confer with Red Cross officials to coordinate medical and sanitary efforts, state and national.

Fire Board Has Appointed Two

George D. Matthews and Edward J. Noble Become Members of Paid Fire Department—New Truck Is Accepted—Firemen Geary Injured.

George D. Matthews and Edward J. Noble were appointed members of the paid fire department Tuesday evening at the regular monthly meeting of the board of fire commissioners held at the Central Fire Station. They will assume their duties the first of June. Both men were on the eligible list filed with the fire board by the municipal civil service commission.

Mr. Matthews, who is a member of Union Hose Company, is employed by J. Leonard Salzmann the Syracuse street baker, while Mr. Noble, who is a member of Rescue Hook & Ladder Company, is employed at the Cornell shops.

The board also accepted the new aerial auto fire truck and it will be placed in service the last of this month. It is now at the Central Fire Station and has been given a thorough workout by the fire department.

Fireman William F. Geary, of the paid fire department, was reported as suffering from blood poisoning in his hand and arm. He cut his hand with glass while at the N. D. J. Murphy undertaking establishment fire on Broadway recently, but had been treated and discharged as cured. He returned to work Monday but Tuesday his hand and arm became so inflamed and set up that he was forced to see a physician and will be off duty for some time.

The fire board also decided to appoint a physician for the fire department and Dr. Chester Van Gable was named. The new board has never had an official physician although the police department has three.

Routine matters were disposed of and the board then adjourned.

FLEET TO ARRIVE AT NEW YORK ON FRIDAY.

The United States Fleet, which consists of about 175 ships of all types and manned by 2,500 sailors, including the officers, will be anchored in the waters off New York city on Friday, April 29, when it will arrive there for inspection by citizens.

There are now being sought by the naval department and young men are now given a chance to enlist in the navy by getting in touch with recruiting officers who are stationed in cities throughout the country.

Recruiting Officer W. T. Dameron visits Kingston on Tuesday and Wednesday and makes his headquarters at the central post office. He will be glad to talk to any young man concerning the navy. He is planning to stay in Kingston on the remaining days of the week and while in that city remains in the recruiting station in the post office building.

Card Party at State Hall.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the French Community center will hold a card party in the center hall on Thursday evening, April 28. The card party will be held at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. The public is cordially invited.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 27, 1927.

The income of the American people in 1926 is estimated at almost $90,000,000,000, or $770 per capita. It is the most extraordinary income ever known to man; no other such figure has ever been dreamed of before. There have been spots where the income hasn't quite covered the necessities—but in general, there has been work, wages and profits for everybody. This great American income is due as much to the habit of saving, to the thrift that keeps yesterday's surplus for today's investment, as it is to the labor of today. Most tax reformers aim to penalize the thrift of yesterday that provides the capital which furnishes employment and good wages today. This is a shortsighted policy which tends to force the spending of wages or income as fast as received.

The increasing use of power, other than man and beast, on farms, is evident from figures compiled by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Agriculture. The number of farms having tractors has increased from 5,374 in 1920 to 21,100 on January 1, 1927; the number of farms having gas engines from 34,607 in 1920, to 85,818 in 1927; and the number of farms having electricity from 8,495 in 1921, to 28,074 in 1927. While the percentage of all farms having power equipment is still small, the increase during the past seven years has been almost fivefold in tractors and over threefold in electricity. And these progressive and successful farmers have not attained the advance by clamoring for government subsidies and price fixing. They are too independent and self respecting and too busy minding their own business and managing it well to find time for foolish efforts to force others to hand to them the things they can earn for themselves.

The United States is particularly different from other countries of the world in the fact that its people use, as necessities, articles which the majority of citizens in other countries deem luxuries. As a simple illustration, take the automobile. Twenty-two million of them are running in our nation of about 110 million people. This is probably four times as many automobiles as the rest of the world owns. Approximately 18 million telephones in the United States tell the same story, as well as general use of electricity. This means that all the people—the day laborer as well as the man with money—make common use of the most modern conveniences. With the automobile has come our remarkable road system. Twenty years ago we had no paved highways through the country. Today paved roads aggregate tens of thousands of miles, and it will be but a few years until unbroken pavement on several routes, will stretch from the Atlantic to the Pacific, just as it now reaches from Canada to Mexico on the Western coast.

PINK POLICIES.

Political history in the state and nation is ripe with precedent for the assertion that radicalism has no lasting appeal to the electorate. Bryan set the nation aflame with this philosophy in 1896. His plea met with response in disinterested succeeding campaigns. Roosevelt, whose radicalism applied rather to Republican institutions than basic changes affecting business, succeeded only in dividing his own party in the crusade of 1912. Wilson, whose tariff tinkering threatened national property, was saved from the inevitable result of unadvised economic policies by the World War. The nation voted overwhelmingly to return to sane and constructive principles at the close of that conflict.

In New York State, David Bennett Hill, the most brilliant Democratic leader to rise to power in a generation, closed his long political career with support of nationalization of the nation's coal mines, an action which can him the support of industrial metropolitan newspapers and undermined a carefully built reputation for business acumen.

Shortly three decades later Governor Smith has concluded himself to the political error so costly to Hill. In his drive for the presidential nomination in 1928, he has surrounded himself with pale pink advisers and seems determined to make issue against tried and successful policies now governing public regulation of our privately owned public utilities. He would exchange, therefore, the socialistic doctrine of public ownership and possibly operation of these great industrial institutions, declarations recorded in his speeches and Democratic state platform.

No less radical and of equally far reaching effect is the Governor's attack upon existing rate regulating bodies and the pleas of his party for return of public utility control to municipalities and the state. Applied to national problems of utility regulation the prospective economic effects are so staggering that sober Democratic journals, which have supported the Governor's succeeding candidacies, view with alarm evidence of these radical tendencies.

 LOOKING FOR CAUSE OF INDIGESTION.

A few years ago, if an individual were suffering from "indigestion" very little was thought about it.

Nowadays indigestion actually means something, because your doctor will immediately begin to look for the cause of it.

Two Southern physicians, Drs. Davis and Vanderhoof, investigated this simple symptom, indigestion, in 4,000 cases.

Of this number the three outstanding causes of indigestion were appendicitis, nervousness, and a dropping of the abdominal organs. Other causes were ulceration of stomach and small intestine, inflammation of the gall bladder, and lack of muscular tone of the stomach walls.

Of the 4,000 cases there were apparently about 500 cases in which the cause was not definitely established.

In other words seven out of every eight cases of indigestion upon investigation yielded a definite cause. The other eight would likely show a cause if the investigations were extended long enough.

It is startling, to say the least, to learn that in this series of cases that about one case in every six was due to appendicitis, and one in seven was due to "nerves."

That one case in every eight was due to lack of muscular tone is easily understood, in fact most physicians would be inclined to believe that weak abdominal muscles or weak muscles generally, were responsible for a larger proportion than this.

Now a chronic appendicitis may not necessarily mean operation, but be guided by your doctor. It would be most unfortunate if you were "twenty miles from anywhere" and had an acute attack.

In regard to "nervous" indigestion, there is the old valuable suggestion that you rest before and after each meal, and that you try to be calm and unruffled during the meal hour.

In regard to the "dropping" of the stomach and intestines, I have spoken before of the advisability of tightening up the abdominal muscles by the bending exercises. If this is impossible then the wearing of a close fitting abdominal belt.

However the big point to remember is that there is always a cause for chronic indigestion, so have your doctor find it for you.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

April 27, 1907.—Harris Van Gaasbeek bought the Mountain View House near Shokan.

Miss Laura F. Weller of Kingston and John T. Stuckney of Ellenville married at Lynbrook, L. I.

WHY

City of Leyden Is Honored by Freeman

Holland never erected a Statue of Liberty at the entrance to its principal city, but long before the American "land of the free and home of the brave," became important on the map, Holland was the European "land of Liberty." At Leyden, on the so-called old Rhine, I have been renewing my acquaintance with the shrine most notable in the country's contribution to freedom. Here John Robinson kept the light of religious liberty burning, and induced his parish of "Pilgrim Fathers" to embark on the Mayflower in 1620. Here in the "High School" started by William Prince of Orange in 1575, which in a few years became the most famous university in Europe, Nelhuur in his Roman history says that "no locality in Europe is so memorable in the history of science as its venerable halls." When the English and French were persecuted in their own lands, Leyden was their refuge. Leyden is the only place on earth that ever refused to be exempt from taxation. When its price in 1571 wanted to reward the inhabitants for their gallant conduct in a siege, he offered exemption from taxes or a university. They chose a university.—From "My European Excursions," by Edwin Robert Petrie.

Why Direct Sunlight Is Avoided by Fishes

The fact that in semi-darkness there is less danger of their being caught by fishermen and other enemies is not the only reason why fish prefer shady sections of water. Science has discovered that the sun's ultra-violet rays, which do so much for the health and vigor of human beings and many other creatures, are positively harmful to fish, and this is believed to explain their preference for dark, shady places.

Experiments recently reported to the United States bureau of fisheries by the Vermont state fish hatchery seem to establish very definitely that sunlight is harmful, rather than helpful to fish. At the Vermont hatchery there were almost twice as many deaths among young fish placed in troughs of water exposed to the direct sunlight as among those in troughs left in the shade. The sun seems to be a harmful influence.

The experiments showed precisely the same results with fish of different ages and different species. There was always a much greater mortality in the unshaded pools of water.

Why Bottle Is Reversed

It is easier to keep things cold than hot in a vacuum bottle. The explanation lies in the tendency of heat to rise, and the fact that the opening of the bottle is at the top, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The "average" user thinks of heat and cold as two separate things, but the bottle manufacturer knows he is dealing with only one factor, heat, which is why the bottle neck is always made as small as possible, yet of sufficient size to provide room for introducing the contents. Hot liquids or foods can be kept warm for a longer time by turning the bottle upside down, to get the neck leakage at the bottom. One manufacturer of large vacuum shipping cans for milk found in experiments that the rise in heat in the contents of a five-gallon can was sufficient to produce a temperature difference of as much as 2 or 3 degrees between the milk in the bottom part of the container and that at the top.

Why Glass Aids Health

"Vitraglass" is the name of a new kind of glass which permits a true health-giving sunbath in the home. Ordinary window glass, no matter how clear, cuts off the variable but strongly vital ultra-violet portion of the solar spectrum almost as effectively as a brick wall. Therefore the value of a sunbath in the most brilliant conservatory is virtually an illusion—the effect is largely mental.

It is only comparatively recently that man shut himself off from ultra-violet light; before the use of ordinary window glass began he obtained sufficient of it in the most natural way—from the sun. A large proportion of the malformed bones and dentures of our generation may be charged to lack of ultra-violet light—a fact science has only recently understood.—Scientific American.

Why Fat Folks Go South

People who are eager to weigh less should refuse to get on the scales except at the equator. The result will show them several ounces lighter than in far Northern latitudes, says Dr. Paul R. Hert of the United States bureau of standards.

A man who weighs 200 pounds at the North pole will automatically lose nearly ten ounces when weighed at the equator. A ton of coal, weighing 2,000 pounds at the North pole, will tally only 1,994 pounds at the equator.

How to Test Mushrooms

As a final test, if you are in doubt as to whether you have gathered true, good mushrooms, hold a silver spoon with the collection. If they are true mushrooms the spoon will not discolor.

Why Aspen Quivers

The aspen leaves are so delicate y upon the stems that the least disturbance in the atmosphere makes them tremble. This is more or less true of all the trees of the northernmost family.

Character in Fiction

Dr. Roger C. Convery was a Scottish character, member of a hypothetical club in the Spenser. He was typical of the English square in the robes of Queen Anne.

Rotary Plans for Boys' Week

Club Has Arranged for Kings-Observance of Week to Focus Attention on Importance of Boys.
—freckled faced, clean faced,
faced, teen age boys—will be center of interest for the coming from New York to San Fran-and from Vancouver to Tam-
The period from April 30 to is the officially designated Week and in Kingston an observance has been
by the Rotary Club.

The object of the movement,
it will be observed in more than thousand cities, is to focus the attention of the public on the boys nation's greatest asset, accord-to Walter W. Head, an Omaha chairman of the general committee in charge of the affair.
committee also hopes to interest in themselves and to emphasize amentals in character building.
Head is most insistent in stating that Boys' Week is not, "We are trying to raise funds." Mr.
said "We do not want to ex-
the boy and we do not want to side him with a week's holiday by celebration. We are anxious to every youth an equal chance to out his destiny without the dear of underprivilege or over-sage."

Among the cities which are planing particularly impressive celebra-are New York, Kansas City, Chicago, San Francisco, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Binghamton, N. Y., and Rome, Savannah, Ga.

Each day will be devoted to some phase of boy life. Saturday, April 30 has been designated Boys'
day. It will be featured by parades. In many cities, they are being urged to bring their
along with them to the march.
Sunday, May 1, is Boys' Day in churches. Fathers are urged to attend services with their sons and ministers are planning special prayers for that occasion. Monday
Boys' Day in Schools and Tuesday
Boys' Day in Industry. Wednesday is over to athletics and entainment; Thursday, to citizenship and Friday, to health. A detailed local program will appear.

Washington Mourns for Old Lafayette Square

That part of the city of Washington having pride in its traditions is grieved about what is happening to Old Lafayette square. These green lawns to the north of the White House dominated by five more or less gigantic statues, Lafayette and Roch-ambeau, the Frenchmen; Kosciuszko, Pole, and Von Steuben, the Prussians stand there in the heart of Washington. In the center rides Andrew Jackson on his rearing, tearing steed.

It is a haunted square, where old deeds walk. Dolly Madison lived there. Henry Clay sauntered there.
Blairs, the Lees, the Rodgers and Decatur and many another name familiar to Americans are identified in way or another with the place.
Every old house still standing has or has a commemorative tablet.
The square is about to be surrounded by tall buildings, steel-skeletoned and sheathed with stone or concrete, extending to the south, where it faces the White House. The east side is being transformed, and likewise the west. A theater stands on the ground where Henry Clay traded to Commander Jeffers. The new chamber of commerce and the veterans' bureau have moved away some of the older houses.
The southeast corner rises the new annex. So far the west side
the green quadrangle has changed little, but the shadow of change is there.

There was a time when the square had been preserved as a memorial to Yesterday. This is no longer true. Washington is growing, moving and marching out that way. In the years historic Lafayette square was dominated either by great commercial or official buildings. Washington is about to lose something that it cannot be replaced, but there is no doubt for it.—Washington Post.

Sealing Wax Now Put to Decorative Uses

Sealing wax is perhaps less important than it was before mechanized objects came into use, but never was it so versatile as now, nor so decorative. Many a delicately decorative object that appears to be carved wood or carved and painted wood or colored glass turns out to be merely molded sealing wax.
Plates and bowls and artificial flowers, plaques and vases and candle-holders are among the objects becoming more and more popular. Their beauty is due to the material used. It is a universal woman does something in home crafts.

A trap of sealing wax on the end of a metal building needle melted over the end and coated in a glass of water.
The wax is softer and decorated with a number of colors. A sealing wax covered with varnish the wax and substituted with oil of wax, shaped when soft into any of groups or forms, because "wax" to finish the outside. Because of its softness and its resistance

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MORE CITY JOURNEYING

Uncle John took Douglas and Dorothy up town on a bus which they always thought was great fun for they loved to see the Hudson river and the boats and the yachts and the shore.

After the bus turned off Riverside drive and had gone up a few blocks beyond the turn, Uncle John and the children got off and walked up a hill. Soon they reached some very large buildings.

"They saw young men carrying books. 'Is it a school for grownups?' asked Dorothy.

"No, there must be several schools, as there are a number of buildings," she added after a moment.

"In a way," said Uncle John, "you are right. It's not a school exactly. Nor several schools, but it is a college—a college for boys and young men after they have left school so they can learn still more. Now we are going to see through the buildings."

They looked around and saw the class rooms and the stadium where plays, athletics, games or winter skating could be enjoyed. They saw the mechanical building and what interested Douglas almost more than anything else, the chemical building where all sorts of wonderful experiments were being tried.

After they had seen everything else they went into the Great Hall. There some one was playing an organ. Its glorious tones, melodious tunes and great chords made Dorothy almost cry with the beauty of it.

"I liked the organ best of all," Dorothy decided afterward.

"I liked it, too," said Douglas, after they were outside and starting for home, "but I think I liked the gymnasium best of all. That was a wonder."

"It must be very expensive," said Dorothy, "to go to such a college."

"You may go to it when you are big," said Uncle John. "And you won't have to pay any money. It's not expensive. In fact it's free. For it is the city's own college—just as free as the schools—only more advanced."

"It seems like the work of some mysterious fairy godmother," said Dorothy.

Uncle John laughed, but said: "It does seem as if the city itself had a number of fairy godmothers around."

They were going beyond their station in the subway, and on downtown they went.

"I changed my mind about going home," Uncle John said in answer to their questions of why they had gone beyond their station and where were they going.

"Yes, I think that we will see what the weather is going to be tomorrow. We want to go on a trip for it is a holiday and we need a nice day for it."

"I can't tell whether it looks like rain or not," replied Douglas.

"Oh, it looks as though it would be nice tomorrow," said Dorothy, as she looked up at the sky, for she wanted it to be nice and she thought it best to be very cheerful about the weather.

"But we might as well find out," continued Uncle John.

"It would be nice if we could," answered Douglas.

"That would be funny," said Dorothy. "As if any one could really tell about the weather. No, the weather has its pretty much its own way and does just as it pleases. Rain or is bright—just as it wants."

"But suppose I should tell you that we can really find out about the weather, and that we are bound for the place where they can tell us?" asked Uncle John.

The children opened wide their eyes and looked at Uncle John. They were very much puzzled. Douglas had been especially puzzled ever since Uncle John had started speaking of the weather and of what it might do the next day.

"We can really find out what the weather is going to be?" they asked together.

"Yes, indeed," said Uncle John. And he led the children into an enormous building. There they got into an elevator and up they went past many floors. They were the only people in the car.

At last they got out and went into a room with a sign on the door which said:

"Weather Bureau."

From the Heights

Roger Wolfe Kahn, Otto Kahn's musical genius of a son, praised, at a dinner at Pierre's, a new novel.

"It's already in its eighteenth edition," said Mr. Kahn. "The poor devil who wrote it was on his last legs—starving and freezing in an attic, in fact, when success came to him. Well, nothing surprising about that."

Mr. Kahn smiled and added: "It's from our attic that we get our sellers."

Canada, with Windsor Dry This Year and New Brunswick Next, Waits Thirsty

Windsor today! Countless barrels and bottles of liquor are stored in the Ontario city, in preparation for the rush of the thirsty, expected when the ban on alcoholics is lifted May 15. Pictures show two comparatively small sections of the stores.

(International News)

WINDSOR, Canada (I.N. Special)—The harvest moon is shining over Canada. Hotel men and resort owners are placing their orders now for new automobiles and sets of books with fancy bindings.

For Canada is getting wetter, and those in a position to profit expect to cash in on the American tourist this summer.

This city expects a major portion of the business. With Detroit, with its millions, right across the river, and furries running often, it is confidently expected that everyone will be wearing diamonds, paid for by

On May 15 Ontario goes wet. It went wet once before, but that was a false alarm. The vanguard of American tourists sent word back that the 4 per cent beer was a failure, and the expected boom failed.

In a short time New Brunswick will be added to the wet provinces of Canada. When it is, all Canada, excepting only Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, will be wet.

The bill sponsored by Premier Baxter, of New Brunswick, providing for the sale of liquor under Government supervision, has been passed by the Legislature. It goes into effect in 1928. The bill, incidentally, strengthens the law against the sale of illicit liquor making the purchaser equally guilty with the seller.

Meanwhile, Windsor is preparing for business. Breweries and distilleries are packed to the roof with their products. Building is booming. Two skyscrapers, a bank and several hotels are ready for the opening day, and several other hotels and many residences are under construction.

Two Tubs— One Washes While the Other Dries

The New Easy Washer, now available for a first payment of $5 with convenient monthly terms, washes and dries at the same time. In the space of a few moments clothing is dried for the line in the Easy's drying compartment, while on damp days laundry may be easily and quickly dried for immediate ironing.

The first batch of clothes is "damp dried" in the perforated cylindrical dryer with never a hard-to-iron wrinkle or broken button—while the second batch is being washed with real thoroughness and care in the large tub, by the Easy's vacuum cups.

Everything about the New Easy gives you a double-speed and double-ease in wash day operations. Its helpful new water-circulating system returns all the hot sudsy water, the rinse and blue waters to their proper places, and a gas burner beneath the large tub keeps the water at just the right temperature to secure the best results.

A spring freshness is easily given to all curtains, bedding and clothing by the Easy Washer, which proves itself especially invaluable during spring-cleaning, as a time and energy saver.

Phone us for a home demonstration of the Easy Washer. You will want it handy to keep all your light summer clothes in order, and, if you decide to keep it, our terms make the Easy Washer easy to own.

No Record Exists of World Without Wheat

While the public revels in the marvels of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, the Egyptologists have dropped back another couple of millenniums and are earnestly discussing the diet of the prehistoric Egyptians. Careful study of their mummified stomachs reveals traces of barley husks, but not of wheat. Therefore, argues Elliot Smith, that remote people lived in a prewheat civilization. Professor Percival disagrees, insisting that the Egyptians would have removed its husks before eating it, leaving nothing tough enough to resist decay.

Time may bring new data, but for the present Elliot Smith seems to have the better of the argument. All prior guesses as to the kitchen habits of 5,000 or 6,000 years ago are a bit uncertain. But if the Egyptologists have already discovered a prewheat civilization they have dived deep into the past. For wheat grains are found back through the dynasties of Egypt, in the ruins of the first neolithic settlement which underlies the site of Homer's Troy and in the prehistoric dwellings of the Swiss lake dwellers. Wheat, too, was one of the five plants solemnly sworn each year by the emperor of China, according to rites which seem to go back to 2500 B. C.

Where wheat originated no man knows. Efforts have been made to trace it to its ancestral plant, but they have never been certainly successful. As even as a biologist discovers a wild plant closely akin to it some other scientist suggests that the "wild" plant is a degenerate escaped from cultivation. The Swiss lake dwellers had two distinct species, one of which is quite different from anything found in the ancient Egyptian records. The earliest Persian writings speak wheat as an old-established plant, but the word goes in that it originated in Mesopotamia. Some day, doubtless, the seeds of Mesopotamia will be as carefully taken as those of Egypt and give as rich additions to man's knowledge of his origins today it is safe to attribute the origin of almost anything to Mesopotamia, because we know so little about it.

largest lift bridge in the world—which is now nearing completion for electric train and vehicular traffic. The bridge is composed of two leaves 152 feet long, each weighing 4,000,000 pounds, and each counterweighted so delicately that a small amount of electric power will handle it. The bridge has to be raised periodically to permit the passage of vessels in the river. The speed of the motors in opening and closing the "knife blades" will cut down traffic delays.

Got Desired Notoriety

"That gent strutting along on the other side of the street is Anson Inch-was, the most extravagant man in the hull of New England," said the landlord of the tavern at Oxboro. "Actually and truly he lit a cigar with a brand-new dollar bill! They arrested him; thought he was crazy—but they found out after a spell that he was doing it just for the notoriety. He got it, too, for there ain't anything that will make a man famous quicker here than being a spendthrift."—Kansas City Star.

Went Out on His Point

In checking up on the time cars were parked at Redlands, Calif., the police found a horse and buggy that had been there more than the allotted time. A ticket was placed on the whip socket ordering the owner to appear in court. And in a short time F. G. Chetler did appear and said, "Judge, that ordinance applies only to motor vehicles and you can't book me." The judge got the ordinance and found that Chetler was right.

Thread Quickly Prepared

The process of treating flax for the purpose of making linen is a prolonged one, the same as was made use of 4,000 years ago. The flax is treated to a bath in running water for several days and then the stalks are beaten to remove the undesirable part, leaving only the lengths of fiber. A recent announcement is to the effect that a mechanical treatment has been devised by which the operation is accomplished in a few hours.

Rope No Protection

Superstition often claims that a snake won't crawl over a rope, and that if you surround your camp with a rope you can go to sleep without a thought of those invaders. A snake will crawl over a rope just as readily as it will crawl over a tree branch lying on its back.

INSPECTING MOTOR "COOLED BY STEAM"

An invention which will keep a motor cool by steam and which, it is claimed, will revolutionize the automobile and airplane industries, was demonstrated to the members of the house military affairs committee at the Capitol by Lester P. Barlow, its inventor (shown on the left). This invention, the rights of which have been offered to the United States, will keep a motor operating at exactly the same temperature under all conditions, according to Mr. Barlow. In the center of the group with paper in hand is Representative W. Frank James of Michigan, chairman of the committee.

CHECK YOUR CAR ON GAS MILEAGE
Owner Should Find Out How Much Fuel His Car Consumes on Trips.
The next hundred mile trip you take it would be well worth your while to find out how much gas was used and the miles you traveled per gallon. This will give you a chance to compare the mileage you are actually getting with that which you should be getting. Perhaps you may find that your gasoline economy is as high as can be expected from the particular car you are driving but on the contrary, you may discover that your car is using far more fuel than it should and is thus proving unduly expensive.
High Gasoline Mileage
How high gasoline mileage you should be securing can best be ascertained by inquiring of a number of other users of identical cars as to their mileage per gallon and by asking the local representative of your make of car how many miles your car ought to be expected to do on a gallon on a 100 mile run under ordinary conditions.
Some of the figures you thus get may be exaggerated or in error but by considering only those from sources you feel are reliable you will obtain a pretty accurate idea of what degree of fuel economy a car like yours ought to show.
Expected Gas Mileage.
Just as a hint as to the expected gas mileage of various cars of recent design it may be said that mileages from 18 to 24 are attainable with four-cylinder cars of moderate weight, mileages of 14 to 18 with sixes of ordinary weight and of 10 to 14 with eights. These figures are mere approximations, and would doubtless prove incorrect for many makes and models but they represent what may be called "educated guesswork."
If you feel that your car uses considerably more gas than you decide it should, judging from the testimony of other users and from general considerations, based upon the cylinder number of its engine, the car weight, weather conditions, and so forth, it is up to you to find and remove the cause of its fuel losses, if you care anything about economy of operation.

Don't Motor Over Grade Crossings in High Gear
Crossings in High Gear
Despite the oft-repeated warnings about the dangers of crossing railroad tracks, thousands of people are killed and injured every year in automobile accidents at grade crossings, says C. E. Pettibone, vice president of the National Safety Council.
It is advisable never to cross a railroad track in high gear. Many accidents happen because cars become stalled while on the track. It is safer to shift into intermediate or low gear a reasonable distance before crossing a track.
If your view is obstructed, or if required by law, come to a full stop before crossing; otherwise slow down to 15 miles per hour.
All crossings require your careful attention, whether guarded or not; crossing bells are sometimes out of order; watchmen or gate operators may be off duty.
Be especially careful at crossings where there is more than one track. Do not cross directly behind a train that has just come by. Another train may be coming in the opposite direction on the next track.
A train running 40 miles an hour goes 36 feet in one second and cannot be stopped in less than about one-quarter of a mile. An automobile traveling 25 miles an hour can be stopped in 24 feet. Which should stop first, and when at railroad crossings, the train or the automobile?

Agriculture May Improve by 1931

Better Prices and Better Relative Position of the Industry Seen by Dr. Warren.

(By about 1921, agriculture will be in a relatively much better position than at present, predicts Dr. G. F. Warren, head of the department of agricultural economics at the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.)

Some of the factors which he sees as favorable omens are: Beef cattle may be expected to bring good prices by then. Dairy cattle probably will be relatively high and scarce due to a present shortage of cattle from one to four years old. Hogs probably will decline in price but will be high again by then. If the building depression lasts the usual length of time, there will be too many houses in the cities. All these influences will combine to improve the relative position of agriculture.

Because most agricultural products are sold at wholesale, the level of wholesale prices is important. With this in mind, Dr. Warren says the agricultural depression may be over by 1931 if the general price level of all commodities at wholesale does not decline further. If prices fall more or, in other words, if deflation continues, the depression may continue.

GROUP PICTURE TAKEN OF THE MARDI GRAS.

A. H. Lipgar of the New York Photo Studio has a remarkable group picture of the principals of the fairytale court, Cinderella and Prince Charming and various other children, who took part in the Cinderella Ball and Mardi Gras held at the state armory last Friday evening.

The photograph is more remarkable when it is considered that Mr. Lipgar made only one exposure from flashlight with the group in the center of the floor. Spectators about the hall are also included in the picture. The photograph of the children is very clear and distinct and features of all are brought out clearly. It is one of the first pictures of its kind ever made of the Cinderella Ball and Mardi Gras.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, April 27.—Mr. and Mrs. P. Brockner are the proud parents of a son born on Sunday, April 24.

Mrs. B. Schwarzwalder entertained at a sewing bee at her home in Chichester on Thursday. Those present were: Mrs. S. Grant, Mrs. A. P. Loomis, Mrs. A. Delemater, Mrs. C. Neice, Mrs. E. Ellinger, Mrs. E. Breithaupt, Mrs. R. Bennett and Mrs. J. Van Keuren and Miss L. Whitney of Shandaken.

Harold Peck, who sustained injuries about the face when he was struck by a tree which fell after it had been sawed at the bottom, had to undergo an operation at the Kingston City Hospital, where several pieces of bone were removed.

Miss Elias Schwarzwalder spent Sunday with her parents.

Mrs. W. Conerty's mother of New York City spent a few days with her. Mrs. O. Nollner and Miss Helen Sickler spent Monday in Kingston.

Mrs. L. Riley and family of High Mount visited her father, H. Boice, recently.

Billy McGrath, Jr., expects to secure some fine trout this season as he was recently made a present of a fine fish pole and reel.

The Tennis Club will give a movie on Monday evening, May 2. The proceeds will be for defraying expenses entailed by the work done in preparing the court. Tickets are now on sale.

The M. E. parsonage is now being wired by W. Malloy, who was the lowest bidder on the contract.

D. Ehnist will not move to Kingston. He is now employed in the Seakelton garage.

Mrs. W. Van Steenburgh has been ill of laryngitis.

Mrs. J. Conway's sister of Connecticut has been visiting her.

Dr. Levitas of Margaretville called on friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Lemain, accompanied by Helen Sickler, spent Saturday evening in Kingston.

Retail Milk Price Should Be Variable

Would Insure More Steady Supply For Consumer and Less Up and Down For Producer.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 27.—The retail price of milk ought to fluctuate with supply and demand and should not remain the same regardless of summer or winter or rain or drought, says Dr. G. F. Warren, agricultural economist at the State College of Agriculture here.

If an agricultural product is sold at a fixed price, a price regardless of varying costs, consumers must expect violent fluctuations in supply. Yet, it is to the best interest of the consumer that a steady supply of milk be available instead of alternate periods of surplus and shortage; and it is to the best interests of the producer that the price be such as will steadily sustain the industry rather than have successive periods of profits and losses.

Even though it is generally believed that supply and demand govern prices, there is a strong tendency for the price of milk to stay fixed regardless of supply or demand. However, if the price of milk fluctuated, supply could be stabilized, Dr. Warren says, and during a series of years, the price would average no higher than when the price is stationary.

Museum Gets Relief

The Museum of the Peaceful Arts in New York has acquired a fragment of the old lightning rod set up about 1770 on St. Paul's cathedral, London, under the direction of Benjamin Franklin. Recently the old lightning arrester was removed from the cathedral and a more modern rod erected. The clock of the works at the cathedral cut a section of the old rod, 10 1/2 inches long, to the museum as a gift. When the new building to house the museum is erected it will be one of the many historical, scientific, electrical and mechanical exhibits donated to the institution.

If You're Timid

There is a doctor in Paris who is said to be having phenomenal success at curing people of timidity, by the simplest and most harmless of means. For 30 francs, this Doctor Martine provides patients with luminous texts to be hung over their beds, where the inscriptions may be read night and day. "I am calm," "I am comfortable everywhere," "I am a new person," "I dominate," are among the eight slogans the timid are urged to keep constantly in mind. Over a thousand persons have written to Doctor Martine.

A cafeteria supper will be served in the Methodist Church House Thursday evening from 5:30 o'clock until all are served. The following is the appetizing menu: Roast beef, brown gravy, mashed potatoes, peas, baked beans, cabbage salad, beet pickles, pie, jelly, strawberry short cake, bread, tea, coffee.

Mrs. Richard Freure of Brooklyn, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Anna Ellinger, of Broadway, has returned to her home.

Lucretia Rebekah Lodge will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in their rooms in Odd Fellows' Hall, Ulster Park. At this meeting they will celebrate the first anniversary. Several visiting lodges are expected to be present. All members of the lodge who can are urged to be present.

The Willing Workers will hold a card party at the home of Mrs. Edwin H. Bishop on Broadway this evening. Pinocle and five hundred will be played. Prizes will be given and refreshments served. Every one is invited, who enjoys these games.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Suffir of Bayard street spent the week end at Peckskill, N. Y.

Mid-week prayer and praise service will be held in the Methodist Church Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Everyone is invited to this service.

Vaccine for Pneumonia

Pneumonia among the natives of Madagascar has been greatly cut down by use of the antipneumococcus vaccine developed at the Pasteur Institute of Paris, according to official reports recently received at Paris. Pneumonia with a high mortality has been responsible for as many as a fourth of the hospital cases in some of the areas, says the report. The immunity conferred by the vaccine lasts about a year. The medical authorities in Madagascar have found it wise to give doses of vaccine to malarial patients before they administer the vaccine in order to stave off attacks of fever which, when they occur, the natives are likely to regard as a direct result of the vaccination. No ill results have been recorded as yet from this double treatment.—Indianapolis News.

Bull Snakes' Good Work

Two Kansas professors have been making some experiments to determine the value of snakes as rodent destroyers. They placed about forty bull snakes in a cage and watched them capture live rats and observed how much of that kind of food the snakes would consume. "A bull snake weighing about three pounds ate more than three times its own weight in rodents in the course of six months," declared Prof. Frederick Hissaw. "This is equivalent to twelve adult pocket mice a year. One three-pound snake should be able to clear an acre and a half of alfalfa land of rodents." He estimates that one bull snake would save a farmer about $3.75 a year. The scientists said they found these snakes to be "gentle, easy-going creatures."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Fisher Will Meet Konchins Tonight At Armory Bouts

Frankie Konchins will again substitute for Paul Yanzek in bout with Fisher-Anderson. Meet Wagner in final fight—Record crowd expected to see them.

Primed for action, the fighters will appear in the ring at the New York State Armory tonight, awaiting the tap of the bell that will send them forward to vie with each other for the honor of winning the decision and the lion's share of the over-welcome purse. Advance sale of tickets point to a capacity house.

Bobby Anderson of New York, hard hitting negro junior light-weight champion of the New York State National Guard, feels confident of the outcome of his battle with Bobby Wagner, another fast stepping youngster from the big city. Wagner, although not so well known in pugilistic circles as Anderson is a clever man with his fists and will probably make the champion extend himself to the limit to earn victory. Wagner is picked as a "come" in his 140 pound class by promoters of New York. The struggle will be the 8-round climax and should prove entertaining from the start.

Fisher to Meet Konchins

In the semi-final a substitution has been made necessary and Charles Fisher, local favorite who was billed to meet Paul Yanzek of New York will meet Frankie Konchins, an old rival who Charlie has won two decisions from.

It has been a mystery to the fans how Fisher succeeded in defeating Konchins, because Konchins has knocked out Gene Mack from New York every time they met. Mack, in turn, has put the haymaker on Fisher in a like manner on every occasion.

This bout will probably draw the largest amount of interest among the fans, who have been waiting for the opportunity to see Konchins and Fisher battle again for supremacy. There are many fans who believe that Konchins will prove too much for Charlie in their next engagement. It was said that Konchins was not in the best of condition when Fisher won the decision over him at their last meeting about a month ago. Konchins was reported to have been ill prior to that encounter.

Regardless of how the "dopest" figure it, the war between Fisher and Konchins will doubtless be a sensational affair without quarter on either side and fast and furious from the tap of the bell. Weight 160 pounds.

Kerakos vs. Boyer

Another eight-round affair will bring together Tommy Kerakos, who put up a game fight against Jimmy Abbott at the last armory show, and Eddie Boyer, negro boxer who has acquitted himself favorably in the New York area against hard rivals. Boyer possesses plenty of science and a knowledge of inside fighting and packs a terrific right. Kerakos demonstrated to the fans that he is a veteran at the game and knows how to take it without flinching. The outcome will probably be a toss-up. Weight 145 pounds.

One six-round bout will place Glad Martin in the arena swapping blows with George Moisen, who fought a draw with Eddie Murphy here at the last performance. Martin is considered a hard man to handle because of his speed and clever footwork. He is quite capable of sending over a haymaker unexpectedly. Moisen established himself solidly with the Kingston fans during his other engagement and this battle should prove a fast set. Weight 145 pounds.

Van Buren in Opening Bout

As the signal is given for the proceedings to start, Roy Van Buren, another popular Kingstonian with pugilistic ambitions will climb into the squared circle and face Frankie Hess of New York, in the first preliminary battle. Roy is considered good by the fans and many expect that he and Frankie will furnish one of the liveliest encounters of the show. Roy has the speed and fine foot work while Hess is said to be well versed in the art of self-defense, having scored a large number of victories along the Hudson between Troy and New York.

Thomas Coughlin, local attorney will be the official announcer and John Daley and Frank Sheridan will act as judges. All bouts will be to a decision. John P. Ernie's orchestra will begin at 7:30 to furnish the musical entertainment.

New Amateur Boxing Champs

Boston, April 27 (AP)—Three knockouts, one bout so savage that an extra round was needed to decide it, a fifth that saw a champion cheated of a knockout by the bell, and three others in which fast hard fighting left little to pick from, brought titles to amateur boxers in eight classes today in the windup of the national tournament.

Only one of the new champions had ever worn a crown before and he, Tommy Lown, 135 pound 1926 titleholder from New York, proved his right to the purple by a slashing triumph last night over James Peeney, Portland, Me. Lown put the Portland boy away in the third stanza of their 147 pound contest.

Milo Mallory, hard hitting San Francisco entrant, clubbed William Schultze of Buffalo into submission in the first round of their battle for heavyweight honors and capped the championship as the Buffalo lad went flying through the ropes. Another contest to end precipitately saw Chris Batallino of Hartford, Conn., emerge triumphant over Louis New, same 126 pounder from Milwaukee. New was felled by a terrific attack in the first but refused to take the count until the second.

Harry Liebenow, diminutive New Yorker, was cheated out of a knockout over Abe Lovino, Pittsburgh's 112 pound finalist, when the bell saved the smoky city boy in the third. Liebenow scored six knockdowns over Lovino but each time the youth struggled to his feet and carried on. He was unconscious when the gong put an end to the fray.

In the 175 pound class George Hoffman, doughy New Yorker, was forced to go an extra round with Jimmy Mendes, rugged negro battler from New Bedford. Both boys assailed each other furiously for three rounds but in the fourth Hoffman took the decision with a savage salvo of rights to the negro's head and face.

Three other titles were decided in only slightly less spectacular fashion. Frank Durke, fiery haired San Francisco puncher, outboxed shift Johnny Zale of Gary, Ind., and was awarded honors in the 125 pound class in succession to Lown who had grown into the 147 pound class frame.

Joe Hanson of New York and Joe Goddard, Minneapolis, put up a sizzling exhibition that saw the former crowned champion of the 160 pound division by a mere shade. The 118 pound struggle was decided by the same margin with Tommy Paul of Buffalo winning over Pittsburgh Johnny Haggerty.

Fights Last Night.
San Antonio, Tex., (AP)—Mike Vasquez, El Paso, and Sammy Sandow, Cincinnati, drew 12 rounds.

The diamond performers and racquet wielders of Kingston High School are now working enthusiastically in order to take the trophies in their respective fields. The tennis team made a very favorable debut by overwhelming St. Stephen's Juniors and the baseball players expect to equal the accomplishments of their fellow athletes when they meet the Albany High School team in the capital city on Saturday.

According to the scribes the local householders will have to work fast in order to compete with the team from the upper Hudson district as the boys of Albany have a strong line. Who will work on the mound for the upstarts is not known.

"Bud" Davis will do the twirling for Kingston High School. Elmer Jones of Fisher will do the receding. Edinger, who worked behind the plate last year and planned to occupy the same berth this season, will not be able to appear on the field due to injuries he received to his left arm.

Tennis Schedule.
The tennis team has but one open date on its schedule for the season. The open date is June 11. The following are the dates upon which the N. Y. M. A. at Cornwall April 30, Schenectady at Schenectady, May 7, La Salle at Troy, May 11, St. Stephen's at Kingston, May 11, Yale Intercollegiate at New Haven, May 21, La Salle at Kingston, May 28, State sectional tournament at Kingston, June 1, Schenectady at Schenectady, June 1, finals of state tournament at Cornwall June 11, open.

7th Ward League Being Organized

A league to be known as the Seventh Ward Merchant's League will in the very near future have a schedule in order for the staging of games at Block Park on week-day nights. It is expected that about eight teams will compose the roster of the league and some fast games no doubt will be the outcome of the league's inauguration. At the end of the season a cup will be donated by the merchants to the victorious nine.

Many nines in the immediate vicinity of the Seventh Ward have signified their intention of joining the league and little trouble will be had in setting eight teams to compete for the trophy offered by the business men of the ward. The Guild in the Block Park district, are very interested in the outcome of the league. It is expected that the Ron-dont A. C. with a lineup of fast-stepping diamond enthusiasts, will also be one of the first teams to sign up for games in the organization.

With these two aggregations as a nucleus it should prove very easy to get other teams to sign up in the league. A meeting will be held in the near future at which the rules and regulations to which the teams must adhere will be made up. The entrance fee and the qualifications will be announced later.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press)

They are cheering Tyrus Cobb today for a feat as remarkable as he ever achieved in 22 years of major league baseball.

At 41 when it seemed he must tire under the weight of years, he called forth his youthful fire and speed to win a game almost single handed yesterday. He scooped in a fly at top stride for an unassisted double play. He cracked out three hits. He scored twice, sliding home. He was all over the field as the Athletics forced into the first division by beating the Red Sox, 2 to 6.

With his team trailing 7 to 1, the Georgia Peach opened up with the kind of baseball he played in the world series of 1908 and led a headlong attack, while Connie Mack, who paid $45,000 this year for Cobb, sat on the bench and sent in reinforcements. Twenty players all told took the field for Philadelphia but Cobb served nine full innings and finished fresh.

When Cobb's team rose a peg in the league the Detroit club with which he played all his 2,801 games before this season settled into the second division by losing to the White Sox 9 to 3. New York and Washington, which head the league in that order, did not play, and the St. Louis Browns, who are third, dropped a game to the Indians. So the advance of the Athletics was a long step toward the top.

After one brief day at the head of the National League the St. Louis Cardinals lost their first game in seven starts to the Pirates who went into a tie for first with New York. Heaps of Lee Meadows downed the world champion for his fourth straight victory, 3 to 5, while the slow ball artist Sherdel was battered by the Cardinals' men in the third.

Bill Terry's homer, double and sacrifice helped the Giants to their 7 to 2 victory over the lowly Robins, who could not connect with the slants of Fred Fitzsimmons.

Like the Athletics, the Reds turned defeat into victory as they put on their clubbing clothes in the sixth and hammered out six runs for an 8 to 5 triumph. The heavy hitting Webb knocked a home run for the Cubs in the ninth as a pinch hitter, but no one was on and it was not enough to win.

IMAGE TEAM LEADS IN STATE BOILING THERMETER.

Buffalo, April 27 (AP)—With a score of 2416 in their latest game, the Orange Run team of Syracuse last night took first place in the five day contest of the New York state boiling thermometer.

Starting with a score of 2043 and 3,033 the Syracuse five finished strong with a count of 935 to make the five total one of the highest in state tournament history (see story) and Syracuse had today's show over for the leaders.

Earlier in the evening the Geneva Academy of Buffalo rolled on the home altar, had taken first place in the team event with a score of 2,988 but then held the lead only two hours when the Syracuse five led them down the river in the water boiling contest.

THEN and NOW

Ralph De Palma was an auto racer when it was something to "go like sixty." He's still in the game that requires "going like two hundred" to amount to much. Pictures show him as he looked in the early days of racing and as he looks today.

JUNIORS BEAT SOPHOMORES IN FIRST INTERCLASS GAME

The Kingston High School Interclass Baseball League opened Tuesday afternoon at the third field with a win for the junior class nine. They defeated the Sophomore B team by a 13 to 12 score. The game was loosely played the winner secured their runs by virtue of bunting six hits and outlasting twelve batters. Captain Fuchs was the game with a home run with one on base in the last inning.

A Blinding Color
A Detroit man who is color blind can discern only yellow. The other day he went on a shopping tour and believed he had purchased a smart new brown suit. When his wife observed it she gasped, and then burst into tears. It was a violent green.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 27 (AP).—Operations for the advance continued in control of the stock market today in the face of smaller quarterly steel earnings than had been expected and a decline in steel operations. The unusually large supply of money at easy rates effected a bullish influence on sentiment, and some excellent earnings reports contributed to the advance. Bangor and Aroostook touched a new high on the report that the road's quarterly earnings exceeded $8 a share.

Broad demand for a number of railroad and industrial shares resulted in several notable advances, despite another violent decline in Pierce Arrow Motor shares in reflection of the poor earnings statement. The preferred stock sank 12 points, and the common went down to 12.
Talk of recapitalization was again heard in connection with a jump in Case Threshing Machine and Commercial Solvents B. which moved up 5 1/2 and 6 points, respectively. Other noteworthy advances were Baldwin,
Houston Oil and Warner Brothers
Pictures, ranging from 3 to 5 points.
The market began to ease off in the early afternoon on profit taking influenced by a resumption of pressure against the oil shares, particularly Phillips Petroleum and Mar-land. General Asphalt was also heavy.

Tax Commission Meets Officials

Biennial Meeting With Supervisors
and Assessors Held at Court House—Tax Questions Answered
and Explained.

In accordance with the state law which provides that once in each two years the assessors and supervisors of a county shall meet with the Tax Commission representative in each county in the state, a meeting of such officials of Ulster county was held today at the court house. Deputy Commissioner Daniel R. Spratt and Assistant Deputy Commissioner
James B. Wallis met with the officials and talked over problems which confront the county and town officials.

Deputy Commissioner Spratt presented and explained the purpose of the meeting and outlined the situation in Ulster county. Following that, Mr. Wallis explained several matters which usually give trouble to the assessors and then reviewed several questions which have come up to the Tax Commission from Ulster county during the past two years. The meeting was then thrown open and a general question box resulted in which many questions in regard to assessing certain properties were asked and answered.
The roll was called by Henry R.
DeWitt, clerk of the board of supervisors, and the list of assessors corrected. Since election several of the assessors have either resigned or died and there have been several substitutions.

Mr. Spratt during his talk informed the assessors of the new provisions of the law among them being the assessing of shares of state and national banks and trust companies which, under the new law, is taken from the local assessors and is carried for direct by the State Tax Commission. The Tax Commission levies, collects and later turns back to the localities each proportionate share of this tax which formerly was collected by the various localities and assessed by the localities. Money capital and bank stock assessments by local assessors are also eliminated under the new law which went into effect on March 30, 1927.

Former Senator Beveridge Dies

to the Payne-Aldrich tariff measure in 1909.
An incident resulting in much criticism by Indiana editors became known in Hoosier policies as the
"Dear George" episode. In 1912, when Beveridge was a Progressive candidate for governor of Indiana, a letter purported to have been written by him to George W. Perkins, an official of J. P. Morgan & Company, in which Beveridge refused a $25,000 campaign contribution by Perkins, was made public.
Perkins was called "Dear George," and the writer commented upon the many favors he had received from the financier, regarded as one of the "Wall Street" group and close to the "invisible empire"
of regular Republicans in the senate.

Beveridge returned to the Republican fold in time to avow the Hughes candidacy in 1916. He made many speeches against the League of Nations and "stumped"
the country for Harding in the 1920 campaign. His name was promi-nently mentioned as vice-presidential candidate with Harding.

Defeated by Klan.

A typical Beveridge campaign of oratory swept him ahead of Harry
A. New in the 1922 race for the Republican nomination for the senate.
He was regarded as the odds-on favorite in the election until the Ku Klux Klan turned its support to Samuel M. Ralston.
President Harding offered Beveridge the ambassadorship to Japan in 1921, and he was said to have been mentioned by the President for the Berlin diplomatic post.
Beveridge always was a persistent student of American history, particularly the social and legislative phases. In 1924 he was awarded a Roosevelt medal for "valuable contribution to history."
—the life of Marshall.

Slow, Painstaking Worker.

In 1925, Beveridge had been at work several years on a life of Abraham Lincoln. Because of his exhaustive research work Beveridge worked slowly, sometimes spending several months on a single chapter and frequently revising his copy as many as fifty times.
An omnivorous reader and student, he was able to present an able discussion on many subjects. "The Bible as Good Reading" and "The Law and the Constitution" were two of his most popular addresses.
Several colleges conferred honorary degrees on him. The Beveridge divided their time between their Indianapolis home and a summer residence in Massachusetts.

A New Jersey court has ruled that $15,000 is an excessive valuation in place upon a wife. The case was to recover for loss by the damage-ment. The presumption was stated that the loss was not an intransigent
one, and a further presumption appeared that the widow is expected to remarry in a reasonable time, anyway. Which all goes to show that the value of a wife varies.

Treasures in an Egyptian tomb reported a colossal value, yet such as many an American check book could easily cover with the stroke of a pen.
These men may not decide to assert themselves in historic interest as an art collector.

IN THE HEART OF FLOOD REGION

The high point of the Mississippi floods is moving South. Pictures show scenes near Natchez, Miss., the new centre of flood danger. Pictures show cattle and autos being driven to safety on higher ground and the last train to cross the river from Vidalia, La., to Natchez. A few more inches of water would have stranded it.

The Lousy Toothpick

The sixteenth amendment of ecclesiastics says the Bangor Commercial prohibits the use of the lousy tooth-pick in the presence of others, even when a newspaper or magazine is read on a screen in what formerly was considered a polite gesture. Time was,
and not long ago, when wooden toothpicks had their place on the dining table and were passed after the after-dinner mint. Before the advent of the wood article there were goose quills done up in small packages and on sale at the corner drug store. And if one went in for style, there was the gold toothpick which was prominently displayed at the best jewelers and was handed down from one generation to the next in some such fashion as the proverbial family toothbrush. The old Joe Miller about the drummer who lunched sparingly and frugally in the lunch wagon and then strolled to the veranda of the best hotel in the town where he proceeded to pick his teeth in leisurely fashion, had its origin in that unpollished era when the toothpick was in good standing among the four hundred. The little manufactured splinters are still used by the billions, but not in the spotlight as formerly.

In loving memory of David
Smith, who died April 25, 1923.
Two years ago today God called you away, dear father, but how miss you. Some day we will meet at God's great judgment seat.
What a happy meeting that will be.
Signed, Son and Family.

MR. ALPHA SMITH.
In affectionate memory of my dear husband, Arthur Kiernan, who departed this life April 27, 1926.
Just a thought, of sweet remembrance.
Just a memory fond and true.
Just a token of affection.
And a heartache still for you.
Just a sigh for the olden moments.
Just a smile of love anew.
Just a tear in silence falling.
And a yearning just for you.
Signed, His Wife,
MRS. MAY PINCH KIERNAN.

In memory of my dear son, Arthur
Kiernan, who departed this life
April 27, 1926.
In my heart your memory lingers
Sweetly tender, fond and true.
There is not a day goes by
That I do not think of you.
(Signed) MRS. ELIZA KIERNAN.

Twain's Daughter To Play Here

The Athletic Association of the Kingston High School is bringing to Kingston on Friday evening a remarkable dramatic performance and an actress whose name is famous—Clara Clemens, daughter of Mark Twain, whose book, "Recollections of Joan of Arc," is the foundation of the play "Joan of Arc." In two acts divided into ten scenes, Clara Clemens and her company will give a very complete portrayal of the Maid of Orleans as drawn from her father's book.

The ten scenes, beginning with one in Joan's childhood and ending with the scene in which the inspired maiden leaves her prison cell and against simple but adequate stage settings. Before each of the scenes there will be readings from the book sufficient to preserve the continuity of the story.

Both the production and Miss Clemens have been much in the theatrical limelight and there has been much interesting controversy concerning the play, so that those attending the High School Auditorium, Friday evening will witness something new and unique in the theatrical line and will have an evening's excellent and also educational entertainment.

The high school pupils now have tickets for sale and are anxious to make a large sale for the benefit of the Athletic Association which is in need of funds. Today, Thursday and Friday tickets may be exchanged for seat coupons at the Y. M. C. A. and there will be tickets for sale at the door Friday evening.

Full Assessment Of Property Urged

Deputy State Tax Commissioner Spratt Tells Local Assessors That Taxpayers Benefit When They Assess Real Estate at Full Value.

The importance of the local assessor as an equalizing agent was stressed by Daniel R. Spratt, Deputy State Tax Commissioner, in a speech delivered today at the court house in this city to the supervisors, assessors and municipal officials of Ulster county.

Ulster is one of the counties in entire accord with the State Tax Commission in the matter of equalization rates. Last year appeals from the county equalization were heard by the State Tax Commission. The hearings ended in an agreement on equalization rates by which the city of Kingston this year received a credit of about $24,000 in the apportionment of the state and county taxes and some of the towns received smaller credits. It is unlikely that cause for any future appeals will occur.

"Where two different sets of officials work out a satisfactory table of rates," said Deputy Commissioner Spratt, "we have the right to feel that they are as nearly perfect as can be. It is our experience that this agreement will last many years and equalization between the tax districts of the county is a problem the assessors, supervisors and taxpayers will not have to worry about for some time to come.

Eliminating Inequalities.
"There is another equalization problem, however," said Deputy Commissioner Spratt, "and that is the one which results from inequitable assessment within a single tax district. Where such a condition exists—only the local assessor can rectify it. He is not only the assessor of his tax district but he is also the equalization agent. That is one of the reasons why the Tax Commission has been emphatic in urging full valuation of all real and personal property subject to taxation. We believe when property values are fixed as nearly 100 per cent as it is possible to fix them, a great deal of possible discrimination and inequitable assessments will be eliminated. We do not claim that it would be a perfect assessment for neither assessment nor equalization is a perfect science, but we do believe that over 95 per cent of the injustices, unfairness and discriminations will disappear when the assessors honestly and earnestly strive for a full value assessment.

Advantage of Full Assessment.
"It is not necessary for me to point out to you that there is a financial advantage to the taxpayers of your city, towns and other municipal subdivisions if you should decide to follow the statute strictly and assess at full value. The State Tax Commission has shown in previous visitations how under-assessment is costing the taxpayers of this county thousands of dollars annually in income tax moneys which the Tax Commission is directed to apportion on a basis of assessed valuation. We hope to see the day when the real property in Ulster county will be assessed far above the 44 per cent rate which the state now fixes for it.

How Plan Would Work Here.
"From 1920 to 1925 taxes on real property for all purposes in Ulster county increased $738,000, and since 1920 the income tax returns to the county have been $343,000 less than they would have been if the full value direction of the statute had been followed. Last year alone $75,000 that should have been applied on the tax bills of the property owners of Ulster county went elsewhere. It must be obvious to you that it makes no difference to the Tax Commission if you persist in the undervaluation of property. The state gains nothing by it. The real profit is obtained by some tax district that comes nearer to complying with the law. But with municipal expenses mounting upward each year it is more than likely that the money could have been very profitably used here in your local tax districts.

Increase in Taxes.
"There is one phase of taxation, however, in which the State Tax Commission is very much concerned. As each succeeding legislature increases the outlay against state expenses and state budgets become larger. One would think that all the additional tax burden of the last fifteen years was imposed by the state. This is far from the truth. Even though you do bear the brunt of the cost of federal government is decreasing while the state and local expenses are going up, the matter of fact is that in this county of all the taxes levied on real property, which means your home, your farm, or the business or industry in which you may be interested, the only one to show a decrease was the amount raised for state purposes.

"In the same period taxes on real property raised for town purposes increased 60 per cent and for county purposes 70 per cent and taxes for school purposes, city purposes and village purposes in lesser proportion. In the meantime while the county has gained 10.7 per cent in population the increase in taxes on real property per capita has been $3.88.

Cost of Government Increasing.

"In this respect Ulster county is no exception to the rule. It invariably works out that the cost of local government with which we are more directly concerned and which must necessarily be immediately responsive to our desires, increases at a more rapid rate than the taxes we raise for state and federal purposes in a state which is increasing in population at the rate of several hundred thousand people each year and which is being intensely developed along economic, industrial and domestic lines, the cost of government is not going down.

"It is because the great Empire State has been made a beneficial place to work in and a more attractive commonwealth to live in that hundreds of thousands of people are moving into its domains annually. The state could not progress as it has if its people did not wish it to, and the extent to which they will go to make it a desirable place in which to abide is evidenced by the colossal appropriations for public schools and public highways alone. The state aid to public education this year aggregates $72,000,000. The state appropriation for the construction, improvement, maintenance and repair of state and county highways is approximately $16,000,000—upwards of $20,000,000 more than the entire state budget when Governor Smith first took office.

"We must always bear in mind that these appropriations are direct, responsive to the expressed wishes of the people as represented in the legislature. While our elementary and academic school system has been developed to a point of unparalleled efficiency and while we have been building a system of highways incomparable in all the world we have not heard a single, material, supported protest against the expansion of our school system or the extension of our wonderful highways."

KATSBAN CROSSING WILL BE ELIMINATED

The public service commission has ordered the elimination of the Katsbaan road crossing of the West Shore railroad, about one mile north of Saugerties, by closing the highway over the tracks and diverting the traffic over a new highway to be constructed on the west side of the tracks to the Mount Airy road crossing, about 1,100 feet distant. The railroad is directed to prepare the necessary plans and take charge of the work, the cost of which will be about $5,000 including improvements at the Mount Airy crossing approaches.

There are about thirty train movements a day at the Katsbaan road crossing. The state and railroad favored the elimination of the crossing at the hearing but there was some objection by the town authorities on the ground of inconvenience. The commission announced that public interest does not require the elimination of the Mount Airy crossing at the present time.

Y's Men's Club Sings New Song

The Kingston Y's Men's Club met Tuesday evening as usual, but somehow the meeting was extra fine, and will remain in the minds of the fellows a long time.

With Dan Blittner at the piano and Tom Rowland leading the singing, all present learned how to "Shovel Steam on the Erie".

Walter S. Hopkins of New York, secretary of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., gave a talk concerning the flood in the Mississippi valley, the Y's Men's Clubs throughout the world, and the work done by Y's Men's Clubs in financial campaigns. Mr. Hopkins has just returned from a trip through Tennessee, Arkansas and other southwestern states.

W. Kenneth Kukuk won the attendance prize.

With another 80 per cent present, the club stands in line to "cop" the international contest.

As usual a sumptuous supper was served by the Y's ladies, the menu being Dinty Moore's Special and strawberry shortcake.

Benefit Card Party.
The first spring bridge and pin-ochle party for the benefit of Happyland, a summer camp for undernourished children, will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall tonight. Games will start at 8 o'clock. Considerable equipment must be purchased for the camp, which is situated at Maple Hill, and all interested in the promotion of the welfare of the little ones who will attend the camp are invited to spend the evening at the K. of C. Hall. An enjoyable time is promised all by Mrs. Thomas Hayes, who is in charge.

Legion Auxiliary Party.

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Group 5, will hold a card party in the Memorial Building, West O'Reilly street, on Friday night at 8 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

The Bride's Wedding Ring

AT ONE time was a plain circlet of gold. Many plain circlets of gold are still used, but a carved wedding ring in gold or platinum is now very popular and many of the designs are beautifully symbolic of the nuptial ceremony. They mean something and constantly express a thought fondly cherished by the bride.

A wedding ring should assay just exactly what it is stamped. Our rings are all stamped 14 and 18-kt., and they assay right up to the mark.

You will be interested in seeing the many beautiful wedding ring designs which we have just received from some of the master craftsmen of our industry.
